

Established, Growing Logistics Tech Company Looking For Full-Stack Web Developer

Lojistic – located in Costa Mesa, CA

Want to work for an established, growing company that's pursuing a compelling, industry disruptive mission, loaded with potential? Orange County Business Journal listed Lojistic as one of the "Best Places to Work" in 2014, 2015, 2016, 2018 & 2019. And Inc Magazine recognized Lojistic as one of the Best Workplaces of 2019 in America.

Founded in 2005, Lojistic is a service-oriented tech platform that helps businesses manage and reduce their shipping costs. Our software platform is used by hundreds of companies of varying sizes, including Royal Caribbean, MillerCoors, Chipotle, LA Dodgers, and Toshiba. Each week we process tens of millions of rows of shipment data on behalf of our clients and aggregate that information into valuable insights and tangible savings opportunities.

To support our growth, we're looking for a passionate web developer to help us build kick-ass, responsive, modern web pages. At Lojistic, you will put your knowledge of frontend and backend development to work as we continue to improve our online marketing presence.

If you are looking to join a tribe that genuinely cares about each tribe member and you want to make an immediate impact in a growth-minded, friendly, casual culture, please submit your resume and a link to your online portfolio and/or GitHub account. This is a full-time salaried position (sorry, no contractors, vendors, part time or remote employees) at our super rad corporate office (stocked with lots of amenities) across the street from South Coast Plaza. LOCAL CANDIDATES ONLY ☺

Got skills? Here's what we're looking for:

- 3+ years of full-time web development experience, including:
 - Strong competency with the frontend stack: HTML, CSS, JavaScript
 - Experience with PHP/Laravel, or similar backend frameworks
 - Experience with SQL databases
 - Experience using version control, specifically Git
 - Experience with command line tools and libraries
- Someone with a supernatural talent and genuine passion for web development
- Someone with a sense of humor
- Someone who has a desire to keep learning, as this position will evolve over time

Responsibilities/Expectations Include:

- Building and modifying web pages based on pre-determined designs and content
- Maintaining our marketing website to ensure we're using the latest, greatest technology
- Working with various teams to ensure we constantly improve our marketing funnel
- Performing quality control checks on all website work
- Integrating with new technologies and APIs
- Promoting clean code and consistent design patterns across all our projects
- Showing up with a good attitude, being cool, and ready to kick some ass ☺
